We can offer a solid proficiency, backed by years of practical experience, in the following areas of service:

- > Operational Management
- > Supply-line Quality Control & Assurance
- > Facilities Commissioning
- > Surveying and Master Planning
- > Updating electronic records
- > Operations and Maintenance
- > Retro-commissioning
- > Logistics and Procurement

DELIVERING OPTIMUM OPERATIONS

Ray P. Delio & Company have undertaken demanding operational responsibilities in a number of industries, including roles such as:

- > Being responsible, as Director of Engineering for a major New Jersey solar energy company, for the operations, maintenance, retro-commissioning, and performance guarantee for numerous Renewable Energy installations.
- > As Program Manager for a Connecticut-based energy efficiency services firm, our prime consultant directed the maintenance, procurement and logistics of goods and services across the US, the Caribbean and Mexico. This role also entailed the ongoing operation of critical industrial and commercial solar and co-gen projects, a part of the program's Build/Own/Operate PPA's.
- > The management of several industrial and large commercial facilities – covering manufacturing, commercial and office, data-center, solar, fuel-cell, semiconductor manufacturing and power generation space – for a global leader in full-service engineering, consulting, construction, and operations.

THE R. P. DELIO & COMPANY APPROACH

Our methodologies and tools for project management are guided by three principles, helping to ensure process doesn't deflect from the achieving of project goals:

- > Pragmatism – success is not delivered through dogma and theory. We believe that success is ultimately underpinned by action grounded in the real world
- > Client-tailored – there is no such thing as an 'off-the-shelf' solution. We believe in the fundamental value of applying common sense to individual client situations
- > Result-focused – we believe in providing concrete, tangible and long-lasting solutions to your biggest challenges

R. P. Delio & Company have been Engineering Program Success since 1989; with us as your partner your vision for transformation can, and will, be made real.
